DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 1, 4-5, 7, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Heung (US 6432379) in view of Ovshinsky (US 6478844) and Rendina (US 20030190501).

The abstract, figure 1, and column 4, line 11-29, Heung discloses material with the same structure as that recited in claims 1, 4-5, 7, and 9.

As regarding claims 1 and 5, Heung does not disclose the hydrogen storage component selected from (a) alkali alanate, (b) a mixture of aluminum metal with alkali metal and/or alkali metal hydride, (c) magnesium hydride, and (d) mixtures of any of (a) – (c), wherein the hydrogen storage component is encapsulated in a porous matrix. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to have the hydrogen storage component selected from (a) alkali alanate, (b) a mixture of aluminum metal with alkali metal and/or alkali metal hydride, (c) magnesium hydride, and (d) mixtures of any of (a) – (c), wherein the hydrogen storage component is encapsulated in a porous matrix, since it is well known in the art as taught in US 6478844 (Ovshinsky – column 4, lines 25-43), US 6328821, and US 20030162059 that the substitution of one hydride to another for the same purpose.

Also regarding claims 1 and 5, Heung as modified does not disclose a porous matrix select from the group consisting of carbon aerogels, carbons xerogels, and carbon and meso-structured carbons. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to provide a porous matrix select from the group consisting of carbon aerogels, carbons xerogels, and carbon and meso-structured carbons, since it was known in the art as showed in Rendina (US 20030190501 – [0011]).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 4-5, 7, and 9 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
